SR NO	TITLE OF ITEM
1	Title- Cadaver as our first teacher. Introduction- Cadavers are teachers who reveal the secrets of the human body by allowing themselves to be laid open by the dissecting knife. No imaging technique can teach a medical student the complex relationships of anatomical structures nor give the 'feel' of the tissues that a cadaver can.
2	Event Details- The event was organised as AETCOM Module 1.5. and was scheduled on 5-1-2023.
3	Objectives- <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>a) The undergraduate medical students must be made aware of the ethical and humanistic values of cadaveric dissection.</li></ul>
4	Agenda and Activities- The student should be able to demonstrate respect and follows the correct procedure when handling cadavers and other biologic tissues. During learning of anatomy, an invisible relationship develops between student and cadaver. But today, people from all walks of life donate their bodies to science in a gesture that is revered by those in the medical profession and is gaining more visibility in the society. <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>a) Activities included interactive lectures, individual assignments, and reflective writing.</li><li>b) Students offered a silent tribute and wrote words of gratitude down on a tribute wall.</li><li>c) They also expressed their thoughts in the form of essays, poems, and collages.</li></ul>
